The Legal and Institutional Framework of Deposit Insurance Scheme in Ethiopia. Design Considerations, Legal and Institutional Framework Samuel Maireg Biresaw,2018-02-26 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Law - Miscellaneous, grade: 83, Addis Ababa University (Post Graduate Studies), course: Business Law, language: English, abstract: This paper tries to provide the legal and institutional framework of deposit insurance scheme in Ethiopia. Utilizing the cross-sectional and time series variation in the existence of deposit insurance schemes all over the world from the experience of other countries, international organizations on deposit insurance such as the IMF, the FSF, the Basle committee, the IADI and the contextual realities of the banking sector in the country, the researcher finds that the establishment of explicit deposit insurance scheme in the banking sector significantly reduces, on one hand the risk taking of banks and the other the sustainability of the entire financial sector. Though Ethiopia has for long established an implicit system of depositors' protection, the findings of this study supports the hypothesis that the banking sector should not for long stick only to the implicit mechanisms of depositors protection. As a result the FDRE government should come up with the mechanisms of establishing the deposit insurance scheme in the country while at the same time devising strategies to phase out the long existing implicit protection scheme in the country. In this and other related contexts the paper has provided details on the establishment of the legal and institutional framework of deposit insurance scheme in Ethiopia.

Insurance Intermediaries in Ethiopia Tesfaye Abate Abebe,2012 Insurance intermediaries, that originated and developed with the origin and development of insurance, are professionals who bridge the gap between the consumer and the insurers. The four types of insurance intermediaries are: an insurance agent; insurance broker, insurance loss assessors or loss adjustors and insurance surveyors. The book confirms that they are agents of the insurer or the insured and owed duties to perform independently on behalf of the principals. The book focuses on the types and forms of insurance intermediaries, the regulation of their functions, their rights, duties and liabilities. The research was carried out by conducting interviews and paying visits and then evaluating it against the internationally accepted rules and principles. The sector is at its enfant stage of development and confusion between the insurance surveyor and assessor or adjuster is noticed. The book identified that there is no developed system of supervision. Agency contracts are not made in the form the law requires, mainly oral contracts are made with regard to insurance assessors, and letter of appointment is used in case of brokers.

Health Financing Progress Matrix assessment, Ethiopia 2022 World Health Organization, 2023-02-03 Ethiopia implemented the Health Financing Progress Matrix, WHO's standardized qualitative assessment of health financing systems, to contribute to the refinement of health financing policies and strategies with the aim of accelerating progress to UHC. A first assessment was initiated using version 1.0 in 2019, with subsequent updates based on version 2.0 released in December 2020. This summary report of findings and recommendations, highlights current areas of strength and weakness in Ethiopia's health financing system, together with priority areas where shifts need to be made to accelerate progress to UHC.

Social Health Insurance for Developing Nations R. Paul Shaw, 2007-01-01 Specialist groups have often advised health ministers and other decision makers in developing countries on the use of social health insurance (SHI) as a way of mobilizing revenue for health, reforming health sector performance, and providing universal coverage. This book reviews the specific design and implementation challenges facing SHI in low- and middle-income countries and presents case studies on Ghana, Kenya, Philippines, Colombia, and Thailand.

Ethiopia Health Extension Program Huihui Wang, Roman Tesfaye, Gandham N.V. Ramana, Chala Tesfaye Chekagn, 2016-04-25 As a low-income country, Ethiopia has made impressive progress in improving health outcomes. This report examines how Ethiopia's Health Extension Program (HEP) has contributed to the country's move toward Universal Health Coverage (UHC), and to shed light on how other countries may learn from Ethiopia's experiences of HEP when designing their own path to UHC. HEP is one of the government's UHC strategies introduced in a context of limited resources and low coverage of essential health services. The key aspects of the program include the capacity building and mobilization of more than 30,000 Health Extension Workers (HEWs) targeting more than 12 million model families, and the mobilization of health development army to support the community-based health system. Using the HEP-UHC conceptual model and data from Demographic and Health Surveys, the study examines how the HEP has contributed to the country's move toward UHC. During the period that the HEP has been implemented, the country has experienced significant improvements in many dimensions: in terms of socioeconomic, psychological, behavioral, and biological dimensions of the beneficiaries; and in terms of the coverage of health care services. The study finds an accelerated rate of improvements among the rural, less-educated, and the poor population, which is leading to an overall reduction in equity gaps and improvements in the equity indicators including the concentration indices - that suggest a more equitable distribution of resources and health outcomes. The HEP in Ethiopia has demonstrated that an institutionalized community approach is effective in helping a country make progress toward UHC. The elements of success in the HEP include the emphasis on community mobilization which identifies community priorities, engages and empowers community members, and supports their ability to solve local problems. The other aspect of HEP is the emphasis on institutionalization of the activities, which addresses the sustainability of community programs through high level of political commitment, and effective coordination of national policies and leveraging of support from partners. These findings may offer useful lessons for other low income countries facing similar challenges in developing and implementing a sustainable UHC strategy.

Challenges and Opportunities for Inclusive Development in Ethiopia Rahmato, Dessalegn, Ayenew, Meheret, 2019-03-25 As part of its on-going public dialogue program on progress in Ethiopia's development and public policy the Forum for Social Studies is undertaking a project of research and public dialogue on a number of selected topics on the theme of 'Prospects and Challenges for Inclusive and Participatory Development in Ethiopia'. The aim is to enable researchers and professionals to present evidence-based papers to stimulate debate and reflection. This first book in the program looks at the impact of development or lack of it, on specific social groups, namely women, young people and vulnerable groups that should be entitled to decent social care.

FIDIC Contracts in Africa and the Middle East Donald Charrett, 2023-09-20 FIDIC contracts are the most widely used contracts for international construction around the world and are used in many different jurisdictions, both common law and civil law. For any construction project, the General Conditions of Contract published by FIDIC need to be supplemented by Particular Conditions that specify the specific requirements of that project. FIDIC Contracts in Africa and the Middle East: A Practical Guide to Application provides readers with detailed guidance and resources for the preparation of the Particular Conditions that will comply with the requirements of the laws that apply to the site where the work is carried out, and for the governing law of the contract, for a number of the jurisdictions in which FIDIC contracts are or can be used. This book closely follows the format of The International Application of FIDIC Contracts. Each jurisdiction features an outline of its construction industry and information on the impact of COVID-19 on both the execution and operation of construction contracts. This book is essential reading for construction professionals, lawyers and students of construction law.

The Color of Money Mehrsa Baradaran,2017-09-14 In 1863 black communities owned less than 1 percent of total U.S. wealth. Today that number has barely budged. Mehrsa Baradaran pursues this wealth gap by focusing on black banks. She challenges the myth that black banking is the solution to the racial wealth gap and argues that black communities can never accumulate wealth in a segregated economy.

Digest of Ethiopia's National Policies, Strategies and Programs Yamāḥbarāwi ṭenāt madrak (Ethiopia),2008 Having just emerged from a prolonged civil war and faced with the urgent tasks of establishing political stability and reinvigorating an economy in tatters, the Transitional Government of Ethiopia (1991-1995) had to set a new direction for the economic reconstruction and social rehabilitation of the warn-torn and poverty-ridden country. During the Transitional Period a spate of new policies and strategies defining the development priorities, goals and implementation instruments of the new regime led by the EPRDF was introduced. This work is a synthesis of various sectoral policies and an attempt to trace the genesis of the policies, highlight the continuities, significant departures and other salient features. Each of the reviews in this digest briefly analyses the critical elements of the policies, identifies major gaps in the conceptualisation of the policy as well as the achievements registered and the challenges encountered in its implementation. The authors also try to identify the outstanding issues to be addressed by policymakers and suggest remedies. The policy reviews have been grouped into three parts and presented under social, economic and governance sectors.
