Sequential Drawing Index and Annotated Drawing Index of the Ocean Construction Platform SEACON. TRACOR/MARINE INC FORT LAUDERDALE FL.,1983 The sequential Drawing Index lists the drawings in numerical order according to drawing number. The information included is as follows: Drawing no.; Revision no., mo/yr; Title; mo/yr drawn; Size; NO. AP CDS (the number of sheets per drawing number and the number of aperture cards per drawing number). The Annotated Drawing Index groups the drawings by category. The Annotated Index includes the drawing number, revision and title, but additionally, it presents a description of the content of each drawing. The drawing description details what is shown on the drawing, comments upon how well it reflects the condition aboard the SEACON, and in some cases, references another drawing.

Sustaining U.S. Nuclear Submarine Design Capabilities John Frederic Schank,2007 For the first time since the design of the first nuclear submarine, the U.S. Navy has no nuclear submarine design program under way, which raises the possibility that design capability could be lost. Such a loss could result in higher costs and delays when the next submarine design is undertaken, as well as risks to system performance and safety. The authors estimate and compare the costs and delays of letting design capability erode vs. those of alternative means of managing the workload and workforce over the gap in design demand and beyond. The authors recommend that the Navy consider stret.
