Geflüchtete in Deutschland Gerhard K. Schäfer, Barbara Montag, Joachim Deterding, Astrid Giebel, 2016-12-05 Flüchtlinge stellen derzeit und in absehbarer Zeit eine, wenn nicht die zentrale Herausforderung für Europa und die deutsche Gesellschaft dar. Das Buch bringt im Kontext der aktuellen Situation unterschiedliche Facetten der komplexen Thematik zur Geltung. Es ist inter- und transdisziplinär angelegt und verbindet theoretische Grundlagen und wissenschaftliche Zugänge mit Handlungsorientierungen und Praxisbeispielen. Geflüchtete bringen sich mit ihren Geschichten zur Sprache. Grundlegende Aspekte werden in theologischer, sozialetischer, soziologischer und volkswirtschaftlicher Perspektive beleuchtet und bearbeitet. Gefragt wird, welche Allianzen in der Flüchtlingsarbeit notwendig sind, und unter welchen Bedingungen unterschiedliche Subjekte und gesellschaftliche Akteure mit ihren jeweiligen Prägungen, System- und Handlungslogiken erfolgreich zusammenarbeiten können - z.B. Geflüchtete und Einheimische, Ehrenamtliche und Hauptamtliche, Kirchen und Kommunen. Bezogen auf unterschiedliche Handlungsfelder kommen Aufgaben, Projekte und Initiativen zur Darstellung. Die Skala reicht dabei von der Betreuung unbegleiteter Minderjähriger über Integrationsaufgaben der Kindertagesstätten und Schulen bis hin zu Netzwerken für Ehrenamtliche und spezifischen Fragen der Entwicklung von Kirchengemeinden. Anforderungen an eine europäische Flüchtlingspolitik und an eine Flüchtlingsarbeit in christlicher Verantwortung verschränken sich mit Chancen und Zumutungen gesellschaftlicher Veränderung. Der Band enthält schließlich exemplarische Dokumente, in denen sich wichtige gesellschaftliche Diskurse widerspiegeln.

Child Protection Nigel Parton, David Thorpe, Corrine May-Chahal, 1995-06-30 Drawing on original research, this book provides a major critique of contemporary child protection research, policy and practice. In particular, it challenges current attempts to reorder priorities and reconstruct the balance between family support and child protection. In the process, it provides a unique insight into the nature of child protection work and the way practitioners respond to the inherent tensions and difficulties involved. It is essential reading for anyone interested in this major personal and social issue.

The New Wars Herfried Münkler, 2005 This important new book deals with the changing nature of war in the post-Cold War era and the emergence of new forms of warfare in which warlords, mercenaries and terrorists play an increasingly important role. In the modern era, warfare came to play a crucial role in the formation of states, whereas the new wars emerging at the beginning of the 21st century have mostly gone together with the failure or collapse of states. The author draws out the key shifts involved in this process: from symmetrical conflicts between states to asymmetrical global relationships of force; from national armies to increasingly private or commercial bands of warlords, child soldiers and mercenaries; from pitched battles to protracted conflicts in which there is often little fighting and most of the violence is directed against civilians. Changes in weapons technology have combined with complex economic factors to make the prospect of endlessly simmering wars a real danger in the years to come. Against this background, the author outlines the rise of a novel form of international terrorism, conceived more as a political method of communication than as an element in a military strategy. The resulting challenges faced by Western governments, and the costs and benefits associated with any response, are taken up in a concluding section that contrasts the characteristic European and American approaches and examines the implications for the future of international law. This book will be of important to students of political science, international relations, war and peace studies, conflict studies and peace studies. It will also appeal to the general reader with an interest in this topical subject.

Ethical Loneliness Jill Stauffer, 2015-09-01 Ethical loneliness is the experience of being abandoned by humanity, compounded by the cruelty of wrongs not being acknowledged. It is the result of multiple lapses on the part of human beings and political institutions that, in failing to listen well to survivors, deny them redress by negating their testimony and thwarting their claims for justice. Jill Stauffer examines the root causes of ethical loneliness and how those in power revise history to serve their own ends rather than the needs of the abandoned. Out of this discussion, difficult truths about the desire and potential for political forgiveness, transitional justice, and political reconciliation emerge. Moving beyond a singular focus on truth commissions and legal trials, she considers more closely what is lost in the wake of oppression and violence, how selves and worlds are built and demolished, and who is responsible for re-creating lives after they are destroyed. Stauffer boldly argues that rebuilding worlds and just institutions after violence is a broad obligation and that those who care about justice must first confront their own assumptions about autonomy, liberty, and responsibility before an effective response to violence can take place. In building her claims, Stauffer draws on the work of Emmanuel Levinas, Jean Améry, Eve Sedgwick, and Friedrich Nietzsche, as well as concrete cases of justice and injustice across the world.

Narrative Identity and Dementia Marie A Mills,2018-08-10 First published in 1998, this book is a study on the influence of emotions on autobiographical memory in dementia. Based on eight in-depth case-studies of older people with dementia, collected over a two year period, the general findings of this innovative study reveal the strength and durability of the personal narrative even as cognitive processes decline. Using a psychotherapeutic approach, the author is able to demonstrate that the retention of a personal past give a sense of narrative identity and well-being to sufferers of dementia and has an important part to play in dementia care training. Researchers, teachers and students will find this book a useful resource, together with those who work in the field of ageing and dementia care.

Couples in Conflict Alan Booth,Ann C. Crouter,Mari L. Clements,Tanya Boone-Holladay,2016-01-08 This classic volume provides a solid foundation for thinking about creative ways in which our society can work to prevent or minimize destructive couple conflict and enhance couples' abilities to constructively handle their differences. A common thread throughout is that constructive conflict and negotiation are beneficial for relationships. The new introduction provides an overview of how this classic text is still relevant today. Divided into four parts, this book: *addresses the societal and bio-evolutionary underpinnings of couple conflict; *presents the interpersonal roots of couple conflict and the consequences for individuals and couples; *discusses what effects couple conflict have on children and how individual differences in children moderate these effects; *outlines policies and programs that address couple conflict; and * concludes with an essay that pulls these four themes together and points to new directions for research and program efforts. This book serves as a supplement in graduate or advanced undergraduate courses on interpersonal relationships, couples and/or family and conflict, divorce, couples and/or family therapy taught in human development and family studies, clinical or counseling psychology, social work, sociology, and communications and it is also a helpful compendium for researchers and clinicians/counselors interested in couple conflict.
