Day Trading for Beginners Matthew Swing, 2020-05-12 Are you looking for a complete guide on day trading? Then Keep reading... Before you begin day trading, you need first to understand what it is not. It's not investing, which is buying a stake in some asset that you hope will build a profit over a long period. The length of time is subjective, but the most investor will typically hold onto assets for several years, sometimes decades. They are also normally concerned with what business they choose to invest in. They look into companies to make sure they avoid litigation, have strong products, pay off debts, and make solid profits. Day trading is, pretty much, the opposite. It involves buying and selling stock in a single day. These types of traders will borrow money so they can take advantage of little price changes in highly liquid indexes and stocks. Even still, they tend to follow the same type of wisdom that longer-term investors: Buy low and sell high, day traders just do it in a smaller time frame. A typical day trader's day may look something like this. A day trader decides to buy 1,000 shares in stock they like at 10 am. Then when the process begins to rise at 10:15, they sell it. If the stock was up by half when they sell, then they have made $500, minus the commission. Let's say the trader is using Scottrade; the commission could range from $7 to $27, which would mean they would make a net profit of $493 to $473. Then the trader would have to take into consideration their taxes. Whenever you sell an investment that you have owned for less than a year, it is taxed based on your personal gain rate, and this can sometimes be as high as 35%. Long-term gains aren't taxed any higher than 20%. That makes tax planning extremely important in the day trading world. This book covers the following topics: Why learning day trading today is an opportunity? What is day trading and how to get started? Interest rates Retail vs institutional traders Advantage and negatives of day trading Types of trading Platforms and broker What is an option contracts Call and put option on the stock market Volatile in the markets Day trading and swing trading Candlestick Day trading strategies And Much More If you think the profit looks small, keep in mind a day trader doesn't just make a couple of trades in a day, they will make 25 to 30. That means they multiply their profits by having a high trade volume. To help them minimize risks, they won't normally keep a stock overnight because it can change a lot during that period. Corporate announcements and news events will drive the volatility of the market, so the trader needs to be available and able to respond at the drop of a hat. Unlike a long-term investor who waits until they think things through and receives more information, day traders move quickly and make decisions in just a couple of minutes or seconds. Want to learn more about this book? Buy now!

Day Trading Dave Raymond, 2021-02-06 Are you looking for a definite method for making day trading your source of income? Then keep reading... Day trading is the buying and selling of securities in one single trading day. This can occur in any type of marketplace that you choose, but it is most common in the stock market and the forex market. Day trading is very fast-paced. You will purchase a stock, bond, option or other security at some point during the day. Then, sometime during the same day, you will sell the security. If you watched the market correctly and the trade goes well, you will make a profit from that sale. If you made a mistake with your calculations, you will lose money. Day trading is a strategy of trading financial securities, such as stocks and currencies, where positions are taken and closed within the same day. Also called short trading, it involves buying financial securities and selling them before the trading day closes. How short can day trading last? It can be as short as buying and selling in a few minutes, or even seconds! The point is to end the trading day with a square position, i.e., neither long nor short on any financial security. It doesn't matter how many trades you do during the day. You can trade just once a day or ten times a day...it doesn't matter. The defining characteristic of day trading is ending the day with a square position. You will have to practice the rope tricks this book shows you about day trading. When it comes to trading, our reaction to the market is more important than what happens in the markets. This is true for any venture, be it business or sports. The playing conditions are the same for everyone. Then how is it that one sportsperson achieves amazing success while many others fail to do so? It happens because of that sports person's response to playing conditions were more in sync than other sportspersons. Similarly, financial markets are the same for everyone, but only one Warren Buffett achieves tremendous success, where many others have lost their fortunes. This emphasizes that you can learn as much as you want. But ultimately, it will be your actions that determine the ratio of your success in day trading. If you are standing before a mirror, and you want the person in the mirror to raise its arms, what would you do? Would you force the person in the mirror to raise its arms? No. If you raise your arms, the person in the mirror will do the same! Your success in day trading will be a similar exercise, whether you are trading in forex, commodities, stocks, or options. Markets will open, trade, and close. But how you react to those market conditions, will define how successful you are in day trading. So, start reading, and start applying what you have learned now.
